

Coronavirus Brings Massive Shift in Global IT Priorities

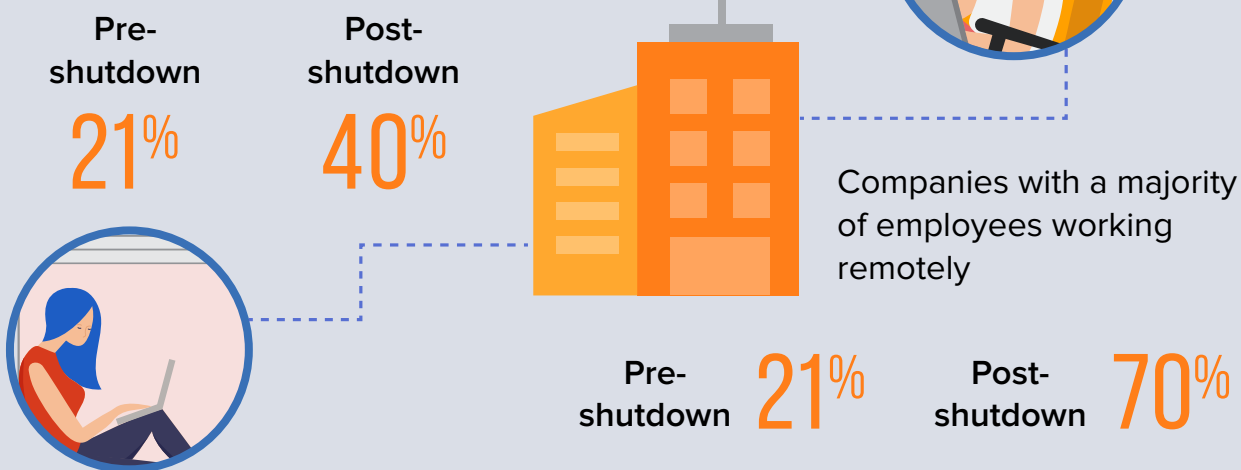

How the Borderless Enterprise Became the New Normal

A new report from Zogby Analytics based on interviews with more than a thousand IT business decision-makers reveals that companies are still playing catch up to optimize the remote work experience for their employees. Indeed, the massive shift to at-home and remote work has accelerated momentum toward the “borderless enterprise,” and completely reshuffled IT spending and cybersecurity priorities worldwide.

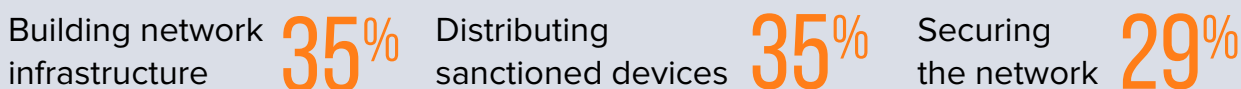

90% of decision-makers consider digital transformation and cloud-managed services top priorities for the borderless enterprise.
